John S. Gaines Sells Mrs. Murphy at a Satisfactory Price.

You may be sure 'tis she.

The attributes of her mind and heart were in correspondency with her personal charms. There was never a sweeter, leviler disposition than Addie Denne's. From among her eager band of suitors she gave her hand to Dr. Peter Lyons, of the prominent Richmond family of that name.

She was married during the war. Dr. Lyons was a surgeon in the army, and died about ten years after the termination of that unhappy strife.

She lived to see her three daughters happily and eligibly married: the eldest being Mrs. Claude A. Swanson; the second, Mrs. Henry Bohmer; and the third and youngest, Mrs. Cunningham Hall.

But the fair guerdon when we hope to find.

And think to burst out into sudden blaze, Comes the blind fury with the abhorred loving hands laid to rest in beautiful Hollywood. May the sod press lightly on that form that once embodied so much of certhly beauty, and a nature so rarely sweet and affectionate.

Richmond, August 24th, 1905.
